

MBA Summer Intern – Renewable Energy Finance

Company: Global Energy Investors, LLC (GEI) is an exciting new project equity firm investing in renewable energy generation. We will begin raising a fund for this purpose in Q2 2010. A REPE (renewable energy project equity) fund incorporates the best aspects of infrastructure, project finance, and private equity to bring private capital into the renewable energy project space. Our first fund will invest in medium scale distributed solar and wind projects located in the Mid-Atlantic and Northeastern U.S. Projects will be funded using various financial structures, all of which rely on sophisticated financial modeling and strong contractual relationships with developers, suppliers, service providers, and power off-takers. For more information on our firm, visit our website: www.globalenergyinvestors.com.

Position: We are looking for dynamic, energetic, and entrepreneurial-minded individuals to join us in our Concord, MA office to participate in the early stages of establishing the fund. Responsibilities will include evaluating specific project opportunities, providing support to the project finance team, and supporting business development efforts through activities such as profiling institutional investors, preparing responses to investor RFPs, and researching and drafting marketing materials such as presentations, articles, and white papers.

Duration: 10 weeks

Key Skills Required:

- BA or BS Required.
- Solid analytical and quantitative skills
- Strong interpersonal skills and high degree of determination
- Highly motivated and willing to work in dynamic start-up environment
- Capacity to work independently, self-starter, and team-oriented
- Strong oral and written communication skills; superior presentation skills
- Strong skills in Excel and Powerpoint
- Experience in finance, project finance, and/or renewable energy consulting preferred

As a start-up, GEI is not offering financial remuneration at this time; however, our team is fully committed to mentoring young entrepreneurs. We will reimburse expenses such as commuter rail passes. The intern will be working directly with the three Managing Directors on a variety of matters, which will provide a breadth of experience unlikely to be found elsewhere. The intern will gain real-time exposure to the most exciting period in the life of a project equity fund. Successful launch of the fund will create opportunities for future employment.
